

New Fall Styles For Men and Women

The new effects this season are most all brought out in the shoe making. There are no fashish shapes or extreme edges to distract one's attention from the real qualities of a shoe. In fact it is the quality that determines the styles as the new custom effects cannot be produced by unskilled workmen with cheap materials. The general tone and character of the new styles is most pleasing and they dress the feet more attractively than for several seasons.

CHAPTER XXIII. THE SACRIFICE.

THE royal architect sat at his place in the workroom, but no papyrus scrolls lay before him. His fine implements were not in sight. The ink pots and pens were put away, and the table was clear except for a copper lamp that sputtered and flared at one end. The great artist's arms were extended across the table, his head bowed upon them, his hands clasped. The attitude was not that of weariness, but of trouble.

Kenkenes hesitated. For the first time since the hour he left Memphis for Thebes, months before, he felt a sense of culpability. He realized that great bounds of comprehension that the results of his own trouble had not been confined to himself. He began to understand how infectious sorrow is.

He crossed the room and laid a trembling hand on his father's shoulder. Instantly the great artist lifted his head and, seeing Kenkenes, leaped to his feet with a cry that was all joy.

The young man responded to the kiss of welcome with so little composure that the artist forced him down on the bench and summoned a servant.

"Rachel—thou knowest"—Kenkenes began, speaking with an effort.

"Aye, I know. Didst find her?"

"Aye, and lost her even while I fought to save her!"

"Alas, thou unfortunate!" Mentu exclaimed. "Of a surety the gods have punished thee too harshly!"

"Kenkenes was not in the frame of mind to receive so soft a speech composedly. A strong tremor ran over him, and he averted his face. The architect came to his side and smoothed the damp hair.

"Thou needest, further, the attention of thy slave, Kenkenes," he suggested.

The young man shook his head. "Not yet," he said. "My time is short, and it is thy help I need."

Without further introduction Kenkenes plunged into his story. He had had no time to tell it four days before. Then he had asked for Rachel with his second word and, finding her not, had rushed immediately to the search for her.

Mentu heard without comment till the story was done. Most of it he had known from Hoteb, and only the recent events at the tomb excited him.

When Kenkenes made an end the architect brought his clinched hand down on the table with a force that made the lamp wink and the implements rattled in their boxes above him.

"Curse that smooth villain Har-hat!" he cried in a tempest of wrath. "A murrain upon his greedy, crafty lust! The gods blast him in his knavery. Now is my precious amulet in his hands. Would it were white hot and clung to him like a leech! Did I not warn thee from the first?"

Kenkenes raised his head.

"Can you avoid a knife if he hath designs on you?" he asked. "Have I erred in crossing his will? Have I sinned in loving and protecting her whom I love?"

Mentu's hands fell down at his sides. The simple questions had silenced him.

His son was blameless now that he had expiated his offenses against the law, and from the moral standpoint his persistence in his claim on Rachel was just—praiseworthy.

"Nay," he said sullenly, "but since thou didst love the girl, how came it that thou didst not wed her long ago and save her this shame and danger?"

"The bar of faith lay between us," Kenkenes answered. "I was an idolater, she a worshiper of the one God. She would not wed with me, therefore."

"So much for Israelitish zeal! Thou hast been a pawn for her to play during these months. Long ago had she surrendered if thou hadst been!"

Kenkenes smiled. "She did not surrender. It was I."

"Thy faith?" the architect asked in a voice low with earnestness.

"Thou hast said!"

A dead silence ensued. Kenkenes may have awaited the outbreak with a quickening of the heart, but it did not come. Instead, the architect sat down on the bench and gazed at his son intently.

After a long interval he spoke.

"Thus far had I hoped that thou wast taken by the Israelite but in thy fancy. The hope was vain. Thou art in love with her."

Kenkenes endured the steady gaze and waited for Mentu to go on.

"There is no help for thee now," the architect continued stoically. "If the gods will but tolerate thee till the madness leaves thee after thou art wedded and satisfied, it may be that thou wilt turn again to the faith of thy fathers. But if I would fix thee in thine apostasy I should try to persuade thee now."

"Aye, and, further, I should be moved to urge thee into heresy," calmly responded Kenkenes.

The artist flung up one hand in a gesture of dissent and, arising, walked toward the door of the workroom. There he leaned his shoulder against the frame and looked out at the night.

Presently Kenkenes went to him and laid his hand on his sleeve.

"I am going to Tanis," Kenkenes began, with forced restraint, "to discover if Har-hat hath taken Rachel. If he hath, the Lord God make iron of my hands till I strangle him!"

"Madman!" Mentu exclaimed. "Thou wilt be flayed!"

"Be assured that I shall earn the flaying! The punishment shall be no more savage than the deed that invites it! But enough of that. If I go to Tanis and find her the spoil of the fan bearer, thine anxiety will hold. I return not to Memphis. She may have returned to her people. And if she be in Goshen I must reach her, find her, before her people depart. Having found her"—But Kenkenes stopped and made no effort to resume. Mentu set his teeth, his hands clinched, and his whole figure seemed to denote intense physical restraint. Suddenly he whirled upon his son.

"Thou wilt go with her out of Egypt?" he demanded.

"I shall go with her out of Egypt."

An hour later, when it was far into the second watch, Kenkenes changed his dress and made himself presentable. Then, without further counsel with the market, he went silently and unseen to the portal of Sencl's house.

After a long time, for her household had been asleep, he was admitted, and the Lady Sencl, perplexed and surprised, joined him in the chamber of guests.

With few and simple words he told his story, pictured his father's loneliness and while she wept silently begged her to become his father's wife on the morrow.

There was no long persuasion. The need of the occasion was sufficient eloquence for the royal architect's noble love.

An hour after the next day's sunrise Mentu and Sencl repaired together to the temple, and when they returned Sencl went not again into her own house.

In preparing for his departure Kenkenes asked at the hands of his father not his patrimony, for that would have been an embarrassment of wealth, but such portion of it as might be carried in small bulk. In mid-afternoon Sencl brought him a belt of gazelle hide, and in this had been sewed a fortune in gems. The architect had given his son his full portion and more.

At the close of day, with his face set and colorless, Kenkenes stepped into the narrow passage before his father's house. The great portal closed slowly and noiselessly behind him. He did not pause, but sprang into his chariot and was driven rapidly away.

At a landing near the northern limits of Memphis he took a punt, bade farewell to his sad faced charioteer and pushed off.

PARTISAN BATTLE

In Cuba the Flames of Political Hatred Burst Out With Fury.

AN ARMED CONFLICT

At Cienfuegos Battle Between Liberals and Moderates Results in Long List of Casualties.

Among the Slain Is the Leader of the Liberal Party and the Local Chief of Police.

Havana, Sept. 23.—Official dispatches received from Cienfuegos announce the killing of Congressman Enrique Villuendas, leader of the Liberal party and the most able orator in the lower house, and the chief of police of Cienfuegos, during a conflict between the two political parties, the Liberals and the Moderates.

The government advises say the police had information that within the hotel in which Villuendas resided a quantity of arms had been deposited, and they went to the hotel to investigate the matter. As the police ascended the stairs they were met by a party of Liberals, who fired on them, killing Chief of Police Illance. The police returned the fire, killing Villuendas and wounding several others. Intense excitement prevails at Cienfuegos and Havana.

The government authorities fear the result which the affair may have upon the election of members of the election boards, which is being held today.

As the news spread throughout Havana, the Liberals and Moderates rapidly gathered in their respective clubs, and it is feared that unless the leaders give wise counsel a clash may result.

A press dispatch from Cienfuegos says that six persons were killed and twenty-five wounded during the conflict. Dispatches to the government say that besides Congressman Villuendas and Chief of Police Illance, two policemen were killed and a number of policemen and civilians wounded. Rural guards are around the entire block in which the hotel Sulzo, the scene of the affair, is situated. One telegram says that Villuendas fired the shot which killed the chief of police, while according to another telegram, the shot was fired by Jose Fernandez, a Liberal, who has been arrested. A search of the hotel revealed two dynamite bombs in the rooms occupied by Villuendas.

The government has received a telegram from Senator Frias, asking it to send reinforcements at once. The telegram says: "While in Cienfuegos at present the forces are keeping order, every precaution is needed, as there is danger of assault. I recommend that the authorities prevent the entrance into Cienfuegos of probable trouble makers who are liable to invade the city. There are fears of dynamite bomb throwing."

Acting on the advice of Senator Frias, the government sent a train of five cars loaded with rural guards, the largest number of whom are destined for Cienfuegos, while the others will be distributed in Matanzas and Santa Clara, where advice received by the government indicate serious trouble may occur at any time. The train also carries artillery and the troops are supplied with 13,000 rounds of ammunition.

The feeling in Havana is most intense. The Liberals are bitterly denouncing the government, saying they have received no advice from Cienfuegos, because the government will not permit the use of either the government telegraph lines or of the cable lines.

A Purely Local Trouble.

Washington, Sept. 23.—Senator Quesada, the Cuban minister, speaking of the trouble at Cienfuegos, pointed out that it was entirely local in character and had no national significance whatever. It was an incident common to popular elections. Cienfuegos is declined to be a purely local trouble.

Colored Murderer Hanged.

Ardmore, L. T., Sept. 23.—Rufus Binney, colored, who murdered his stepdaughter at Ran, in 1900, was executed in the rear of the federal jail in a stockade built for the purpose. There were no witnesses. This was the first legal execution ever held in this district.

Ground for Congratulation.

Lucerne, Sept. 23.—The international peace congress at its session today telegraphed congratulations to King Oscar of Sweden and to the members of the Norwegian cabinet on the pacific solution of the difficulties between Sweden and Norway.

Settled Their Differences.

Paris, Sept. 23.—It is officially announced that Dr. Rosen, the new German minister to Morocco, and the French government have reached a complete accord on the program at the Moroccan conferences.

TERSE TELEGRAMS

Willie Anderson won the open golf championship of America for the fourth time in five years.

Francis H. Peabody, member of the Boston banking firm of Kidder, Peabody & Co., is dead, aged seventy-four years.

Frank Brown, a negro, held for criminal assault and murder, was taken from jail at Conway, Ark., and hanged by a mob.

Under the will of Baron Nathaniel Rothschild, which has just been probated, more than $5,000,000 is given to charity.

Frank J. Cunningham was re-elected president of the National Rural Letter Carriers' association in session at Indianapolis.

An alleged corner at Liverpool in wheat for September delivery has had a strengthening effect on the Chicago wheat market.

Business failures in the United States for the week number 173 against 188 last week and 203 in the like week in 1904.

L. B. Lockhard of Toledo was re-elected grand protector of the Knights and Ladies of Honor. He has been at the head of this organization for twenty years.

Current trade shows a distinct gain in comparison with the same last year. Crop reports are reassuring and evidences of continued activity are noted in almost every department of industry, says Dun's report.

THE STATE OF TRADE

What Bradstreet Has to Say of Current Conditions.

New York, Sept. 23.—Bradstreet's weekly review of trade today says: The fear of falling trade and industrial activity is more unanimously favorable this week than at any preceding period this year. At the leading jobbing centers activity continues notable in all lines of dry goods, clothing, shoes and in fact all kinds of wearing apparel. It is further to be noted that secondary points of distribution are sending better advices. Industry is active, iron and steel leading with larger sales and firmer prices in the cruder forms heretofore inclined to lag. More is doing in the coal and coke industries and prices are hardening. Building material, particularly timber and hardware, reflect unprecedented activity for this season of the year. There is more doing in retail trade, though heavy rains and floods have operated to restrict operations west and northwest. The absence of frost is still the favorable feature in the crop situation, favoring as it does the almost total exemption of corn from damage.

THE HONOR GUEST

President's Daughter the Object of Korean Court's Attention.

Seoul, Sept. 23.—Prince Yi, the emperor's cousin, acted as host at an open-air garden party given at the old east palace in honor of Miss Roosevelt. All of the officials of note of Korea were present. The wooded paths and colored pavilions were decorated with American and Korean flags. Prince Yi toasted President Roosevelt and Minister Morgan toasted the emperor of Korea. Later Miss Roosevelt was present at a gathering under the auspices of the Korean Christian Women's Mission and was given a Korean Bible and prayer-book. From the chapel the assemblage proceeded to a garden party given in honor of Miss Roosevelt and her party by American missionaries in Korean districts. All denominations were present, being in attendance at the annual conferences at Seoul.

Railroads Will Receive Attention.

Chicago, Sept. 23.—Prosecution of the railroads for violations of the Elkins law relating to rebates will follow the conviction of the four officials of Schwarzschild & Sulzberger for conspiring to receive rebates in the conduct of the packing business. As the Elkins law makes no distinction in guilt between the party receiving a rebate and the one giving it, the government is now in a position to begin proceedings against the railroads mentioned in the indictment through a new investigation before another grand jury.

Mitchell Case on Record.

Washington, Sept. 23.—The record in the case of Senator John H. Mitchell has been filed in the United States supreme court. It is brought here on a writ of error from the United States district court of Oregon in which Senator Mitchell was convicted of complicity in connection with the Oregon land fraud cases.

Be sure to use a Cream of Tartar Baking Powder

ROYAL Baking Powder is Made of Cream of Tartar and is Free From Alum or Phosphatic Acid

Royal Baking Powder is pure and wholesome beyond question. There is never any doubt of the healthfulness nor of the superiority of the food it leavens.

Consumers are sometimes solicited to buy baking powders other than Royal because they cost less. It is evident to cost less they must be made of inferior ingredients.

Low-priced baking powders—10c., 20c., 25c., etc.—are made from alum, phosphate or other harsh acid

At most, an alum powder would not lessen the cost of a cake or batch of biscuit more than the fraction of a cent. But can you afford for any sum to endanger your health by making your food with a dangerous baking powder?

"I regard the use of alum baking powders as highly injurious to the health of the community, and believe that their sale should be forbidden by law."—Geo. F. Barker, M.D., University of Pennsylvania.

DOUBLE PROFITS

How Insurance Officials Benefited by Big Syndicate Operations.

MORE EVIDENCE GIVEN

Testimony as to the Transactions of "J. H. Hyde and Associates" Brought Out in Hearing.

Public Is Gradually Being Informed of Many Things It Did Not Know.

New York, Sept. 23.—Syndicate operations of the Equitable Life Assurance Society were taken up by the insurance investigating committee and consumed the entire afternoon session yesterday. Henry R. Winthrop, assistant secretary and financial manager of that society, was called to the stand immediately after the recess and swore to a record of syndicate participations of his company, also to a record of sales and purchases of securities for the past five years. He detailed as far as he was able the transactions of the syndicate of "J. H. Hyde and associates," and took memoranda of all information he was unable to supply, which is to be presented at a later date.

One of the operations was in Atlantic Coast Line bonds in which "J. H. Hyde and associates," the Equitable participating as a member, paid $1,376,096 on call and received $114,500 profits. Mr. Winthrop said there was nothing on the Equitable books to show who the associates were nor what was Mr. Hyde's personal profit.

The Equitable participated also in a Union Pacific syndicate in the name of J. H. Hyde, and when asked by what authority the society assumed the responsibility of Mr. Hyde's personal operations, Mr. Winthrop produced the minutes of the finance committee in July, 1904, showing a written assignment to the company by Mr. Hyde of his interest in this syndicate.

The society had paid into that syndicate $1,670,000. Much of the information desired in regard to these syndicate operations Mr. Winthrop said he would have to look up and supply later. Just before Mr. Winthrop was examined, Mr. Hughes read a long letter from Grover Cleveland, who is a trustee for the policy holders in the Equitable under the Thomas F. Ryan trust agreement. The letter was offered in evidence. Mr. Cleveland detailed the progress of the trustees in mutualizing the company, and said:

"The obstacles that lie in the path of the proposed mutualization are so inherent that even with the greatest study and care they cannot be easily overcome."

In conclusion Mr. Cleveland said: "In common with all others who desire the best conditions in this important field of business where people have so much at stake, the trustees acting for the policy holders of the Equitable society will gladly welcome any aid in their work which may result from the labors of your committee."

At the morning session Thomas A. Buckner, vice president of the New York Life insurance company, described the agency system of the company and the method of paying bonuses.

A "Nylie" system inaugurated by this company, separating the agents who create business into grades according to term of service, was explained and these bonuses Mr. Buckner testified, were charged to renewal premiums. Moneys received by agents from "Nylie," Mr. Buckner said, were in addition to the regular agents' commissions.

Witness said when asked how expensive such a system might be, that the total payments to "Nylie" members aggregated less than 1 per cent of the total premiums. Mr. Buckner was unable to supply a considerable amount of information, but will do so later.

Mr. Hughes asked for full statements of the insurance written in the United States and Canada, also separate statements relating to foreign countries, showing premiums and commissions paid, that it might be ascertained how much if any the business of the New York Life was being extended in the foreign field at the expense of the American policy holders.

The committee adjourned until next Wednesday, Senator Armstrong, chairman of the committee, announcing that the three days' session this week seemed to be so successful,

A Poem for Today

HOME, SWEET HOME

By John Howard Payne

JOHN HOWARD PAYNE, author and actor, was born in New York city June 9, 1792, and died in Tunis, north Africa, in April, 1822. He made his first stage appearance in New York at the age of sixteen and met with great favor. He played also in England and France and retired from the stage in 1822. From 1823 to 1825 and in 1831-32 Payne was United States consul at Tunis. He was the author, translator or adapter of more than sixty plays. His most popular song, "Home, Sweet Home," occurs in his opera "Clari, or, The Maid of Milan."

Mid pleasures and palaces though we may roam,
Be it ever so humble, there's no place like home!
A charm from the sky seems to hallow us there,
Which, seek through the world, is ne'er met with elsewhere.

Home, sweet home!
There's no place like home!

An exile from home splendor dazes in vain—
Oh, give me my lowly thatched cottage again!
The birds sing gaily that came at my call—
Give me them, with the peace of mind dearer than all.

Home, sweet home!
There's no place like home!

We are authorized to announce the name of Henry P. Miller as a candidate for councilman-at-large, subject to the republican primary, Oct. 5.

We are authorized to announce the name of Frank Bretthauer as a candidate for councilman in the Fifth ward subject to the republican primary, Oct. 5.

We are authorized to announce the name of John W. Morton as a candidate for councilman in the Fourth ward subject to the republican primary, Oct. 5.

REPUBLICAN PRIMARY.

Notice is hereby given to the republicans of the city of Seymour that a primary election will be held in this city on Thursday, Oct. 5, 1905 for the purpose of nominating candidates for city officers as follows:

For Mayor.
For City Clerk.
For City Treasurer.

Two Councilmen at large and one councilman from each of the five wards of the city.

The polls will be open from 1 p. m. until 8 p. m.

All persons expecting to be candidates before this primary must file their names with the chairman on or before Saturday, September 30.

By order of the committee,
W. H. BURKLEY, Chairman,
H. C. DANNETT, Secy.

It is said that Chas. J. Bonaparte, secretary of the navy, will be made attorney general when W. H. Moody retires from the President's cabinet next spring.

THERE are many county and township officers over the state who should get a lesson from the Sherrick affair. They should remember that they have no legal right to divert public funds even temporarily to their own use. It is safest always to obey the law.

W. J. BRYAN and wife with their son and daughter have started on a trip around the world. Despite his prophecies in 1896 in the event of McKinley's election and the maintenance of the gold standard, Bryan has prospered sufficiently to make this trip with his family. He expects to be gone a year.

THE increase in the individual deposits with the national banks in Indiana between Sept. 6, 1904, and August 25, 1905 was $6,834,628.63. This is an amazing increase of wealth in one year. The bank deposits are a splendid index of the people's prosperity. And when we think that these figures do not include the deposits in private and state banks and trust companies we begin to appreciate the remarkable prosperity of the people of Indiana. It should not be forgotten either that the larger part of this increase of wealth belongs to the farmers.

KILLED BY TRAIN.

Aged Farmer Hit By Fast Express.

Friday evening the north bound Pennsylvania train due at Seymour at 4:54, killed William Alsop on a crossing about a mile south of Scottsburg. The train was running about forty-five miles an hour and eye witnesses say that Mr. Alsop was either un mindful of the train or else his horse started to run away. Anyway he carried the buggy onto the crossing at a good rate of speed right in front of the engine.

The aged man was hurled quite a distance and instantly killed. His skull was crushed and his body was frightfully bruised in many places and one foot was cut off. The horse was killed and the rig demolished.

William Alsop was a well known Scott county farmer, about 70 years of age. He was on his way to Scottsburg when killed.

Conductor Charles Horning was in charge of the train and Engineer Stoffer was on the engine. It was the same engine whose engine struck and killed Frank Cotton near Memphis, three days before. It is said that he is greatly grieved over these two unfortunate accidents the same week.

M. E. Conference.

The laymen who have returned from the Methodist Conference at Linton say that the business though in volume very large is being disposed as rapidly as could be expected. It is not likely however that the Bishop will be ready to announce the assignment of ministers before Monday. This seems to be a sort of moving year and more changes of pastors will be made than for some years.

It seems likely that Rev. C. E. Asbury, of Jeffersonville, will succeed Rev. J. M. Baxter as presiding elder as the ministers of the district have unanimously agreed upon him. Seymour people desire that the new presiding elder reside at Seymour as here is the logical place for him. The Seymour church, one of the best of the district, is sure to get a strong preacher.

Accident to Farmer.

Friday George White who resides near the Newkirk school house in Hamilton township met with an unfortunate accident. He was raising a new barn being assisted by some of his neighbors. One of the beams was raised a little higher than a man's head when one of the pulley ropes broke and let it fall back. His right arm was caught under the heavy timber breaking it just above the wrist. The wrist and hand were so badly crushed that amputation might be necessary. Drs. Richards and Jenkins were called and dressed his arm.

Political Gossip.

The prohibitionists had expected to be ready today to make public announcement of their nominations but their work to that end has not been concluded yet so they will announce their ticket later.

The democratic committee met last night and elected V. N. Fettig chairman, C. B. Davis secretary and F. W. Buhner treasurer.

Circuit Court.

Ida Herman vs. Geo. Herman. Divorce granted plaintiff.

David Stringer was found guilty of petit larceny and fined $25 and given sixty days in jail. This case grew out of taking a plant from Uriah Beldou's porch at Chestnut Ridge.

James Mason was found guilty of an assault on a little girl in Gras York township and sentenced to two years in the reformatory.

Miss Nora Banks left this morning for her home at Centralia, Ill., after spending several weeks here with her uncle, Elgin Marsh and family.

George Childers and wife left this afternoon over the B. & O. S-W. for St. Louis and Kansas City on a vacation and to visit friends and relatives. They will be gone three weeks. Mr. Childers has not had a vacation nor has he lost any time with the B. & O. for two years.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy Aids Nature.

FOR TWO FAMILIES.

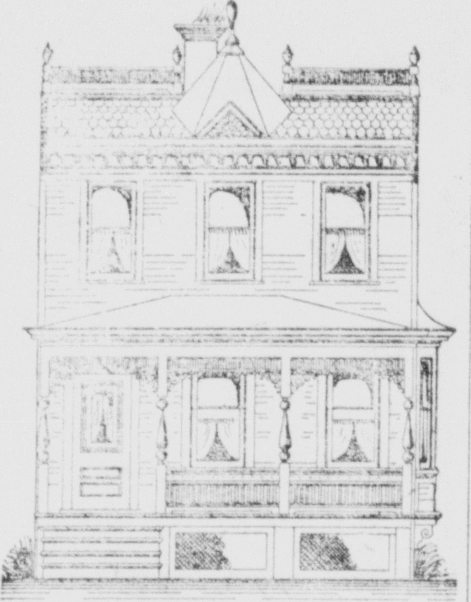

Attractive Design For a Twenty-five Foot Plot—Cost $2,600.

(Copyright, 1905, by Stanley A. Dennis, 234 Broadway, New York.)

We herewith present to our readers an odd but attractive and low priced house, arranged for two families, with all improvements for each apartment, including hot air heat from two separate furnaces in the cellar. The cost should not exceed $2,600.

There is a cellar under the entire house with walls of brick and concrete floor, containing separate coal bins for each apartment. The frame of the house is of hemlock. The exterior walls are sheathed, paper, sided and shingled.

The roofs are covered with rough boards and tin plates. The piazza ceiling, columns, rails, brackets, etc., are all of North Carolina pine, finished in the natural wood with two coats of outside spar varnish. All windows have outside blinds of white pine with coiling slats and are fitted with modern hinges and caps.

The floors throughout are of narrow yellow pine, tongued and grooved, and are laid up tight to the sheathing all around the house. The interior walls are all plastered with two good coats of common mortar, white finished. The interior trim is of clear kiln dried express with plain molded caps. The stairs are also of express, with oak newels, rails and balusters.

The interior trim is finished in the natural wood with one coat of wood fillers. The mantels in parlors and dining rooms are of quartered oak, with bevel plate mirrors, slab tile facings and bronze summer pieces. The dressers in the dining rooms are of express, with drawers and closets below the counter shelf and glass doors above, with adjustable shelves. The kitchens contain steel white enameled sinks, composition stone washbasins.

modern ranges with gas attachments and upright boilers. The bathrooms have iron roll rim enameled bathtubs, porcelain wash basins in marble slabs and porcelain front washout water closets with attached oak seats and covers. The entire house is piped for gas.

Cured of Lame Back After 15 Years Of Suffering.

"I had been troubled with lame back for 15 years and I found a complete recovery in the use of Chamberlain's Pain Balm" says John G. Bisher, Gilham, Ind. This Liniment is also without an equal for sprains or bruise. It is for sale by C. W. Milhouse.

Truths that Strike Home

Your grocer is honest and—if he cares to do so—can tell you that he knows very little about the bulk coffee he sells you. How can he know, where it originally came from, how it was blended—or with what—or when roasted? If you buy your coffee loose by the pound, how can you expect purity and uniform quality?

LION COFFEE, the LEADER OF ALL PACKAGE COFFEES, is of necessity uniform in quality, strength and flavor. For OVER A QUARTER OF A CENTURY, LION COFFEE has been the standard coffee in millions of homes.

LION COFFEE is carefully packed at our factories, and until opened in your home, has no chance of being adulterated, or of coming in contact with dust, dirt, germs, or unclean hands.

In each package of LION COFFEE you get one full pound of Pure Coffee. Insist upon getting the genuine. (Lion head on every package.)

(Save the Lion-heads for valuable premiums.)

A Convenient Way to Buy Coal

We have a constantly increasing number of customers who purchase their winter's supply of coal as they are able. When they have the price, they buy a ton, pay for it and have it sent home. A little later on they get another ton, and so on until their full supply is all in. Doing it this way the whole weight of the purchase is not felt. At the same time they have their fuel supply laid in and paid for, ready for use when winter arrives. If you cannot order your whole supply at once, try this plan. We are as pleased at receiving an order for one ton and give it the same attention as an order for a larger quantity.

COLLEGE STUDENTS.

Thirty-three go From Seymour to Higher Educational Institutions.

The higher institutions of learning all over our country are now receiving larger numbers of students than at any predecided time and the young people of our own city are certainly sharing in this movement. We so many times hear some one remark on the unusually large number of young men and women who have gone from Seymour this fall to attend school elsewhere and this fact surely evidences a good school system and good training here, for it must be that in the schools here the desire to attain something better is inculcated.

The younger generation are now being strongly impressed with the wonderful opportunities set before them to make them eligible to places of importance in the business and professional world about them. To all who desire to fit themselves for useful lives by the acquirement of a higher education, the field is open. College professors not only give the opportunity but urge all who have not the means to pay their way through school to work their way and as a result come from the place of learning much stronger and better fitted to push their own way through the world.

The thirty-three young men and women of Seymour who will be away from home this winter attending school are well scattered over this country more especially the eastern half. Seymour is represented in the institutions of seven states, Missouri, Pennsylvania, Virginia, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Kentucky and we are sure that these twenty boys and thirteen girls will make the most of their opportunities and be a credit to their home city.

The names of the students away from the city are Harlan Montgomery at Hanover, Ind., Frank Shields at the Boston school of Technology, Boston, Mass., Don Bollinger, John Conner and Harry Guernsey at De Pauw University, Greencastle, Ind., Maurice Jennings, Albert Berdon and Ed Vebslage at Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind., Will Masters at Washburn College, Crawfordville, Ind., Julius Peter at Morgan Park Academy, Chicago, Ill., John Rinne and Albert Kasting at Indiana University, Edward Schmidt at Concordia College, St. Louis Mo., Paul Droege, Will Greile and Albert Holtman at Lutheran Seminary, Addison, Ill., Edward Hackman at Concordia College, Ft. Wayne, Ind., Frank Krueger at Chicago College of Pharmacy, Chicago, Ill., Glen Kyte at Medical College, Indianapolis, Ind., L. Edmund Huber at the Louisville Law School, Louisville, Ky., Misses Georgia D. Lauster and Nell Phelan at Indiana University, Bloomington, Ind., Nellie Switzer at Danville Normal, Danville, Ind., Frieda Aufderheide at Metropolitan School of Music, Indianapolis, Ind., Josephine Miller at St. Marys of the Woods, Terre Haute, Ind., Dora Cordes at Manual Training High School, Indianapolis, Ind., Elsie Cordes, Jessie Buchanan and Agnes Hoffman at The Western, Oxford, Ohio, Blanche Milbous at Evanston Boarding School, Evanston, Ill., Margaret Thompson at Mount Ida, Newton, Mass., Madge Montgomery at Wilson College, Chambersburg, Pa. and Mabel Shields at Mary Baldwin Seminary, Staunton, Va.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials Address,

MONEY SAVERS.

Are You Among Those Who Are Accumulating.

If you are saving something from your earnings, be it ever so little, you are doing the part of a wise man. If you are not saving something each week from your earnings the sooner you begin, the better off you will be. Nothing gives a man such a feeling of independence and security as to have a little money ahead to meet any unexpected expense or to make a profitable investment when it presents itself.

The Co-operative Building and Loan Association offers the easiest possible plan for regular savings in any amount, twenty-five cents per week or any multiple of twenty-five cents. For each share of stock you take in this Association you invest twenty-five cents per week. This money is loaned on first mortgage security and as soon as the earnings and principle amount to one hundred dollars, the stock is mature and you draw out the money hardly missing the payments that have made you a snug sum of money.

Series I of this stock starts Monday Oct. 2. See the secretary W. F. Peter, for full particulars.

A remark credited to a well known advertiser, which is very true, is, "Advertising doesn't jerk; it pulls. It begins very gently at first, but the pull is steady. It increases day by day and year by year until it exerts an irresistible power."

The completion of the inquest on Fred S. Cotton, who was run down near Memphis Wednesday and killed is waiting on one witness to arrive at Jeffersonville. It has been learned he was about to be married at the time of the accident and had arranged to give up railroading in the course of a week on account of its danger. The unfortunate bride-elect was Miss Mary Champion of Columbus, Ind., who had made all arrangements for the wedding which would have taken place in a few days.

Cause of Insomnia.

I find Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets more beneficial than any remedy I ever used for stomach trouble. Says J. P. Klote of Edina, Mo. For disorder of the stomach, biliousness or constipation, these Tablets are without a peer. For Sale By C. W. Milhous.

Not a cent wanted, unless you are cured. If you are sick and ailing, take Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea. A great blessing to the human family. Makes you well—keeps you well. 35 cents, Tea or Tablets. W. F. Peter Drug Co.
